

WHITING TO HAVE NEW THEATRE

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES)
WHITING, Ind., Dec. 20.—Whiting is to have a strictly modern picture theatre which will rank with the best in the United States, according to the announcement of A. J. Chisholm, owner and manager of the Star theatre of this city.

His announcement accompanied the news that he had purchased a seventy-five foot frontage at 119th St. and Central avenue, and already has architects drawing plans for the structure.

Stage to be constructed.
Mr. Chisholm stated that he had delayed final decision on his plans until he had the opportunity of looking over the specifications for the several large up-to-date theatres which are being erected.

It is certain, however, that a stage large enough to accommodate vaudeville and drama will be included, and that legitimate attractions will be offered from time to time. The policy will be motion pictures.
Theatre architecture has made remarkable stride since the last few years and some of the features which add to the comfort and enjoyment of patrons are to be provided in the new theatre. This included ventilation, lighting effects, scientifically pitched seating levels, commodious lobby and foyer, properly located exits and entrances and musical equipment.

May Build Lodge Hall.
The building will be three stories. Second story is to be arranged for offices. Negotiations are now pending to fit the third floor up for a lodge hall. It has been reported that the Masonic fraternalists are seeking exclusive possession. Lodge room to be built.
A. J. Chisholm is one of the most experienced and best known showmen in the Central west. He has managed and owned the Star theatre in Whiting for the past three years, and under his direction the patronage has increased to a point where it cannot be properly accommodated in the present space. He has owned and operated several theatres in Gary, Ind., during the past ten years.

FOR HOSPITALS IN INDIANA

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 20.—Officials of St. Elizabeth's Hospital and Home Hospital in this city announced today that an effort was being made to organize a state hospital association. Twelve states already have such organizations.

Committees from the two local hospitals are seeking out letters to hospital managers throughout the state, asking them to prepare for a meeting to be held in Lafayette soon after the first of the year, at which time definite plans will be taken for the organization of a state association.

careless in having an envelope containing $100,000 worth of more certificates lying around and never have a check on them. Pretty slack business methods for a banking concern of their reputation.

"Up to the present time, the disappearance of the bonds started at the First National Bank in Boston and ended at Gary, where Jagger and his wife are now custodians of them. Left the bank and Mr. and Mrs. Jagger give us some information and we will find the owners in a hurry."

According to Chief Forbes when the first learned that Jagger had some certificates of indebtedness which did not belong to him several months ago. In questioning Jagger and Jagger told at that time that Mrs. Jagger had only found three bonds for $30,000 each.

In the meantime, Chief Forbes has been checking up and found that more than three of the bonds had been cashed. Three of them by Herman Faber, Gary merchant, a fourth by Justice of the Peace Laube, and others, which are said to have been cashed in a bank at Elkhart, Indiana.

When interviewed night before last by several reporters, and an investigator from Chicago, Jagger stated that Mrs. Jagger had found 20 certificates in all, ten $10,000 certificates and ten $5,000, a total of $150,000 worth.

Herman Faber, whom Jagger took into his confidence when he wanted to cash several of the certificates, admits that he only saw ten $10,000 certificates, the numbers of which he supplied Chief Forbes for information. In checking up these numbers the treasury department at Washington, Chief Forbes learned that they had been shipped to the Federal Reserve Bank at Boston early this year, and later sent by the Federal Reserve Bank to the First National Bank where all trace of them have been lost.

According to reliable information, Mrs. Jagger is now at Anderson, Ind., where she is supposed to be stopping with a married sister. She left Gary shortly after the news became public about her finding the bonds. A story was circulated Saturday that Jagger had also disappeared, but he returned Saturday afternoon and stated that he had been over to Hammond to see his attorney, William J. Whinery.

"There's nothing now, but a lot of wild yarns," said Chief Forbes this morning. He hinted, however, that he was working on something and might have some news in a day or so.
